MY SWEETHEART.

Whenever I play on the old guitar
The songs that my sweetheart taught me,
My thoughts go back to the summer time
When first in her arms she caught me;
And once again I can hear the sound
Of her gleeful voice blown over
The meadow, sweet with the scent of thyme,
And pink with the bloom of clover.

The faded ribbon is hanging still
Where her dimpled fingers tied it—
I need to envy it stealing round
Her neck, for she did not chide it;
And the lily hand that her ringlets touched
As she leaned above it lightly,
Glowed even now with a hint of gold
That it once reflected brightly.

Whether her eyes were blue as the skies
On a noonday in September,
Or brown like those of a startled fawn,
I can't for the world remember;
But when she lifted them up to mine
I know that my young heart tingled
In time to the tender tune she sang
And the airy chords she played.

Yet now, though I sweep the dusty strings
By her girlish spirit haunted,
Till out of the old guitar there trips
A melody little, encoined,
My pulses keep on their even way
And my heart has ceased its dancing.
For somebody else sits under the spell
Of the songs and skilful glancing.

—M. E. Wardwell in Century.

The Servant Girls Talk Back.

The plan of a number of well known ladies of the city to form an institution for the education of present and prospective servant girls in culinary art, needlework and many other household accomplishments, has been discussed in a recent meeting of the ladies of the city, and judging from a communication received from a servant girl, the young women are not as enthusiastic over the proposition as many of the promoters of the innovation would desire. The communication, a portion of which is used, expresses the sentiment of at least one household servant. It says: "They (the ladies) are seeking to solve a problem that they cannot. They had better use their money, if they had any to spare, in their own homes or for some charitable purpose, where their kindness will be appreciated. They may offend any inducement they like, but they will never get the better class of girls to co-operate with them. Any girl who honors and respects her mother will carry her teachings through life, and will not be taught over again by these ladies. The average girl can teach them more than they know. I think if they would only teach their daughters that which they propose to teach us they would reach the desired end more readily. They set themselves up to teach the working girls what they themselves don't know. They had better put their energies together to invent a machine that will do the work for them, and thus find a means of escaping the annoyance of the 'queens of the kitchen.' They can then set their little machine in the corner when its day's work is done. It will not demand any wages at the end of the month, it will not want an afternoon out every week and will not have to be sent to see it. It will work all day and all night if you wish it to. We working girls are called servants, but we are as independent as those we work for, and, it seems, more so, judging from the pity of those poor unfortunates."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Why Girls Want Old Gloves.
Days when a girl asked every man she met for a necktie for her crazy quilt are passed; she no longer collects her handkerchiefs to make curtains for her windows, and even his match box is comparatively safe. But now the latest is to ask the men for their old evening gloves. "What does she do with them?" the uninitiated quite naturally ask. For "dream gloves" is the reply. "This is the way of it. Her hands, perhaps, still retain some of the summer tan; perhaps they are rough because she has helped in the housework, or they may be chapped from being chilled. Whatever the cause the remedy prescribed is 'grease and gloves.'"

Now our dear girl finds her own gloves are too tight for this purpose, and then, generally, she wears hers until they are quite useless. So she thinks she will borrow her brother's evening gloves, since he casts his away after the first appearance of fog. Then my lady thought it would be so much better were she to have his gloves to protect her hands, his gloves to tuck under her pretty check, his gloves to dream upon. Hence the origin of the name and the fact. What will be the next?—Philadelphia Music and Drama.

Connecticut Girl Farmers.
Eight years ago Miss Esther Peck bought a farm on time up on Grassy Hill in Old Lyme, Conn., and began to cultivate it. She was up with the sun, laying out work for her men, and even taking hold herself. She handled the hoe and rake, drove the mowing machine and hay tedder, pitched hay and did any other work necessary. She was a successful agriculturist, and paid for the farm in four years. Then she bought a second farm and continued her operations, adding live stock. Now she has the best stocked farms in New London county, and supplies New London with poultry, eggs, butter and beef. The two farms are paid for and she has an income of from $1,200 to $1,800 a year, which she is laying by for old age.
Miss Annie Bradley is another Connecticut girl who is engaged in an occupation at which she is making a good living. She lives in Ansonia and peddles milk. She owns her cows, and early every morning drives into the village and delivers the milk to her customers. No storm deters her, and she is not only making money, but enjoying splendid health.—Cor. New York Sun.

No More Red Parasols.
Ladies will be surprised to hear that the use of red parasols has been officially forbidden in many villages of the Tyrol. The peasants say that the startling color irritates the grazing cattle, and that a number of accidents of recent date were due to the display of red sunshades.—London Queen.

DARING JAIL BREAKING.

DAVE PADDOCK'S REMARKABLE ESCAPE FROM JOLLET.

An Almost Superhuman Display of Ingenuity Exercised by a Convict to Get Out of Prison—Working a Few Minutes at a Time for Over Two Years.

A section of iron bar was cut from the cell door of Dave Paddock by that redoubtable knight of the dark lantern and "jimmy" on the occasion of his sensational escape from Joliet. For over two years Paddock has schemed and worked to effect his purpose. He was sent up from Rock Island on an eight year term, and was placed at work in one of the shoeshops, where during every minute of the working hours in the shop he was constantly under the watchful eye of his keeper. There was not the least chance to plan an escape from the shop. But, not daunted at this, he determined to find some means of getting out of his cell at night.

To fully appreciate the difficulty of cutting out of a cell it must be remembered that three times every hour during the night, at irregular intervals, a guard wearing padded slippers—called "sneak shoes" by the convicts—makes his rounds, peering into each cell to make sure that all are secure and in bed. Paddock first appropriated a couple of thin blades and knives from his cell, concealing them from the guard, took them to his cell, where, by using one as a file, he converted the other into a fine steel saw. Then by slow degrees he collected a large amount of shoe thread from the same shop, with which he braided the rope. All this required months of stealthy work, but in the course of time he had a slender, strong rope, fully fifty feet in length. This he kept carefully hidden in the mattress of his bed.

Next he began sawing the bars on his door a little at a time. Night after night he watched for the passing of the guard, and as soon as that official was beyond hearing distance he would cut a little and then fill up the space with black wax, which he had also obtained from the shoeshop, so that the prying eyes of the guard could not discover by daylight that the door had been tampered with. When the bar had been cut through he carefully wedged it back into place with small iron staples and bits of lead.

REMARKABLE CLEVERNESS.
He could now get outside of his cell, but the hardest work was yet to be done. His cell was located high up on the third tier, some sixty feet away from the tower door through which he hoped to make his way. Watching his chance, when the night guard was on the opposite side of the block of cells, he removed the bar from his door, crawled through the opening, and with all the agility of a cat climbed down the corridor from tier to tier, ran across the corridor to the tower door, and, with a piece of shoemaker's wax, took an impression of the lock, regaining his cell before the guard appeared on that side of the cell-block.

By careful working he made a key out of lead pipe that a plumber had dropped near his workbench in the shop. Several trips from his cell to the tower door were made during the next few weeks before his key would fit, and then it took him some time to get together enough material to make a "dummy" to put in his bed to prevent his absence being discovered before he could get beyond reach. On the very day that he intended to make his escape while the guard was on duty, he slipped upon an icy stairway and badly sprained his ankle. This almost discouraged him. His months of anxious toil had come to naught. His scheme would surely be discovered. After three weeks in the prison hospital he was sent back to work, and when he reached his cell that evening was overjoyed to find that his rope, key and "dummy" were still safely concealed in the mattress, and everything as he had left it.

ESCAPE AND CAPTURE.
Another week elapsed before his ankle would permit his making the attempt. The night came, however, and along about midnight he was safe inside the tower. A single iron bar still stood between him and freedom, and it would take long hours of hard work to cut through it. Just as daylight began to break the bar gave way. The rope now slipped down upon the prison lawn and hurried away to the woods that line the bluffs east of the prison. Here he found a thicket or underbrush where he lay hid all that day, and when darkness came again he got away.

His absence was not discovered from prison until the guard went to unlock his cell in the morning. This was without doubt the cleverest escape that had taken place at Joliet, and stamped Paddock as a genius. Extraordinary efforts were made for his recapture. Large rewards were offered, and his description was cast broadcast. A year later it was discovered that Paddock had a mistress in Chicago. A watch was set on her house for several weeks, and sure enough one night Paddock came in an appearance. Captain Simon O'Donnell, of the police department, had the place surrounded and the daring convict was again in the toils. He was taken back to his old quarters at the prison, where he finally completed his sentence, not, however, until he had tried several other schemes for escape, but he was too closely watched to ever again succeed.—Joliet (Ill.) Ledger.

Use for an Old Fashioned Caster.
If you happen to have among the family silver an old fashioned caster, don't throw it away. It is a most useful thing. Take it from its out of the way nook and unscrew the long handle which holds the crucet frame. This will leave when taken out as handsome a table jardiniere for ferns and flowers as your soul can desire, with the trifling addition of a tin basin, which any tinsmith will fit inside.—New York Times.

Wolf Hunting in Chicago.

South Side citizens had an exciting chase after a wolf yesterday morning. Just where the animal came from is not known, but he was evidently new to city life. The first intimation that the residents of that portion of the city had of the arrival of the stranger in their midst was the sight of a strange looking quadruped, something like a dog, worrying a small dog near Indiana avenue and Twenty-fifth street. Something in the savage manner in which the animal snarled and showed its teeth at the approach of a pedestrian warned those whose curiosity prompted them to try to investigate not to venture too near, and they quickly retired to watch developments from the shelter and safety of adjacent doorways.

Such was the state of affairs when at 10:30 o'clock the dogcatchers' wagon came in sight. Louis Schlosser tried to throw a noose around the supposed dog's neck, but it leaped to one side in time to avoid the snare, and started down Indiana avenue, closely pursued by the crowd, with Officer John Jondt and the dogcatcher well in the lead.

When Thirtieth street was reached the wolf sought to evade the shower of miscellaneous missiles thrown at him from every side by turning the corner. Down Twenty-fifth street the chase was continued to Cottage Grove avenue, down Cottage Grove avenue to Twenty-sixth street. Then through alleyways and vacant lots to Lake avenue. Then across the Illinois Central railway tracks to the lake shore, where the wolf took shelter in a deep hole just behind the breakwater. The wolf was finally captured and taken to the dog pound, where he was accommodated with a compartment all to himself. He is of a grayish color and the size of a large mastiff dog.—Chicago Tribune.

The Court's Weak Point.

The township commissioners in Looking Glass township, Ill., are being sued by a lumber firm for the small sum of $2.48. Two trials have been held before justices of the peace, and the case has now been taken to the county court. Much ill feeling has been engendered, and the costs are assuming large proportions. The first trial was called before a German country justice of the peace. After the evidence was all in, and the language of the attorneys employed in the case had subsided, the honorable court arose and delivered the decision: "Shentlenses, I was in a box. I believe you both was right. Von of you show all your pooks and prove it vos dot. The other von show all his pooks and prove it vos not dot. The lawyers made poth good speeches, and tam me if the court knows how to decide."

After a moment's silence the judge's face brightened up and he continued: "Shentlenses, I dismiss this case to Squire Duncan, as he knows more English as I do."—Cor. St. Louis Republic.

Popular Colors This Winter.

In colors this season the blues are rather gray in hue, while the grays either have a tinge of lavender or lilac, or else show a greenish hue, deepening into ragonnet or sage. The heliotropes are more than ever suited to these grays, and have a clear complexion, but the woman who is unfortunate enough to be allowed should never wear or permit to be near her any shade of the delicate hue. But the glaring emerald green is not only at once trying, but loud, and cannot be commended even for the much quoted lady who has the skin of a peach. The popularity of blue is very great. The soft wools or mixtures of silk and wool being shown especial favor. A black wool gown is always refined and ladylike. So she who can get only one gown will be wise in choosing that it shall be entirely in the fashion by being black.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Ice Crop Threatened.

Maine's ice crop is seriously threatened by drought. The water supply has been gradually falling, until now the small rivers are nearly dry and the larger ones are lower than for years. In the Kennebec the water has not been so low for years. At Augusta one can easily wade across. The Androscoggin is practically without water, and the mills at Lewiston would be shut down were it not for the fact that the lakes have been tapped and a supply thus obtained. But the lakes are several feet lower than for years. In the Penobscot the water is so low that the current is not powerful enough to keep back the tide, and the water accordingly is so salt that, should winter set in suddenly, the ice would be entirely unfit for consumption.—Boston Transcript.

Trains Delayed by Autumn Leaves.

Engineers on the railroads in several parts of the state have experienced much difficulty in running their trains on time during the past week owing to the large downfall of leaves upon the tracks. The Housatonic road has suffered most through the long stretches of woodland which the road passes. It has been impossible for the section hands on the different divisions to keep the tracks free from them. The result is that when the wheels of the locomotive pass over them the sap from the leaves on the rails slips and the obstruction is as bad as hail, snow or ice. It is even worse, as the leaves refuse to melt or freeze, but stick to the rails until dried up.—New London (Conn.) Day.

A Famous Tree Destroyed.

The famous oak under which Tasso is supposed to have spent the greater part of the day during the last year of his life, when he had retired to the convent of Sant Onofrio, was blown down, it is said, during a violent gale recently. The tree, which all visitors to Rome used to visit, was kept standing for years by supports of masonry on all sides. The trunk, it is reported, will be kept as a relic in the convent of Sant Onofrio.—Philadelphia Ledger.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever see anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced. It seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

BY TELEGRAPH

News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

THE CHILEAN SITUATION.

Lat. accounts indicate that the Chilean affair will be settled without war. No one, except possibly the President and a few sensational Washington correspondents, believed that the United States would declare war against the South American Republic. Secretary Blaine, who, a few years ago, was considered one of the most bellicose public men in the country, is proving to be one of the most peaceably disposed. Whether it was the Chilean Minister's champagne and turkey at the recent dinner given by him at Washington, or a suspicion that the great United States would scarcely be justified in declaring war against the Republic of Chile unless the provocation was so that it would have to do so to maintain its self-respect. Now the Chilean Minister of Foreign Affairs telegraphs the Chilean Minister at Washington relative to the inquiry into the trouble in Valparaiso, between Chileans and sailors from the Baltimore. The telegram has been laid before Secretary Blaine by Senator McCall, and reads as follows:

"From the summary of proceedings it appears that the struggle commenced between two sailors in a tavern at Ward 'Arrayan,' and that it was continued in the streets with the accession of numbers of inhabitants and transients, parties from the streets called 'Del Clave,' 'San Francisco' and 'Alamos.' The disorder continued and extended to the streets 'Del Arsenal' and 'San Martin,' where the police succeeded in restoring order. All the North American except two, said the police did their duty, and from the voluminous account of the proceedings, it appears that the Court has done its duty. Whenever the prosecuting attorney renders an opinion and the time for producing evidence shall have expired, sentence will be given, and upon the establishing of who and how many are the guilty parties, which may only be presumed at present, whoever they may be they will be punished. Legal proceedings are being actively carried forward to their proper termination."

If such are the facts, the Chileans are, so far, doing all that could reasonably be expected of them. The evidence indicates that alcohol, more than hatred of Americans, caused the row, and if a fair trial is had, and the guilty ones are punished, as the Minister says they will be, there will be no more cause for war between Chile and the United States.

THE WOOL BUSINESS.

The Wool and Cotton Reporter, in its annual review of the market, shows the stock of wool unsold, in the principal markets of the United States, including Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco, St. Louis, Galveston, San Antonio, Providence, Troy, Hartford and Milwaukee, to be 79,314,233 pounds, as against 65,920,822 pounds at the same time last year. The estimated quantities of wool in other markets in the United States, including supplies in pulpers' hands, make the total supply 106,414,333 pounds against 92,861,693 pounds last year.

The prices of domestic wool in the last year on an average have declined about two cents per pound, while Australian and other foreign wools have declined one cent per pound. During the year a large quantity of foreign wool has been sold in the American market, notwithstanding the high tariff, showing that for some cause foreign wool is preferred to that produced at home. Strange to say, the McKinley bill, which very many believed would make every sheep owner a millionaire, has had the effect of reducing the price of American wool two cents per pound and foreign wool only one cent per pound. If that is the kind of protection it affords the wool grower, it would be better for the latter to have it repealed forthwith.

Isaac Sawtelle, under sentence of death at Dover, New Hampshire, for the murder of his brother, died of apoplexy in his cell, on the eve of his execution. His lawyer, to whom was left his body for interment, has been carting him all over the State, as none of the cemeteries will give it place for burial. In five New Hampshire towns the people declared they would disinter the remains, if buried there, and hang them on a tree.

Governor Humphrey of Kansas appointed B. W. Perkins United States Senator, to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late Senator Plumb. This new Senator was born in Rochester, Ohio, about 60 years ago. He moved to Kansas in 1899. He was elected to Congress three successive terms and was finally defeated by the Farmers' Alliance.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals convened in San Francisco yesterday, with District Judge Morrow of California, Judge Hanford of Washington and Judge Hawley of Nevada on the bench. There are two vacancies in the Circuit Court, one of which was caused by the death of Judge Sawyer.

A Prominent Physician Suicides. HALLSDENO, Cal., January 4.—Dr. A. Sobenak, at one time a very prominent physician and enjoying a large practice in Humboldt county, committed suicide Sunday by taking a dose of laudanum.

The Situation in New York.

New York, January 4.—Senator James T. Edwards, who defeated Perry Vedder in Chautauque District, is to-day the biggest link in the political muddle, which engages the attention of the political leaders of the State. He is bigger than the Legislature itself, for without him the Senate cannot organize with a legal quorum. The Democrats have sixteen Senators, but it takes seventeen to make a quorum.

Senator Edwards designates himself an Independent Republican, but has been quoted as saying that he would sit with the Democrats to organize the Senate tomorrow. Fifteen out and out Republican Senators are said to favor the plan of absenting themselves tomorrow to prevent a quorum. They held a meeting here today in conjunction with Platt and other leaders to determine what to do. United States Senator Hascoc was also present. Edwards has been invited to speak with them, and his failure to respond is regarded as ominous. After a lengthy discussion all the Republicans seemed agreed on one point, and that is that unless Edwards refuses to aid the Democrats in organizing the Senate, it will be useless for the other Republican Senators to remain away. Some philosophical Republicans profess to be indifferent as to Edwards' attitude as to his standing on the contest between Walker (Dem.) and Sherwood (Rep.) in the 27th District.

Edwards is said to have stated that he would not vote for Walker, that no man should be admitted to the Senate who had 1,640 votes less than his opponent, and that the electors of the district should have another election. Most of the Senators left last night for Albany.

The Chilean Muddle.

WASHINGTON, January 4.—The correspondence which the President promised to send Congress relating to the attack upon the Baltimore sailors at Valparaiso, cannot be sent now. In fact, there is reason to believe that some day will elapse before the public may know officially just what has passed between the Department of State and Minister Egan on one side and the Chilean Minister of Foreign Affairs and Minister Mont on the other. The unofficial announcement of the practical completion of the judicial proceedings in Valparaiso, and the intention of the Chilean legal authorities to punish the three Chileans convicted of participation in the assault, has given satisfaction here, and is generally regarded as distinct concession by the Chileans to the United States as showing there will not be all probability be further undue delay in the disposition of the case. These tidings have not, so far as learned, been officially made known to Secretary Blaine by Minister Mont, and it may be the latter will await the sentence of the convicted Chileans before he presents to the Secretary the conclusions reached by the judicial authorities of his country with matters in this promising condition.

The Salvation Army has Trouble.

LONDON, January 4.—Trouble between the Salvation Army and the authorities at Eastbourne resulted yesterday in a riot of unusual violence. Yesterday afternoon six Salvationists marched to the beach followed by an immense crowd who menaced them with all manner of ill treatment. Upon reaching the beach the Salvationists knelt down on the sands in prayer, the mob booed and yelled and finally made an ugly rush. Some of the Salvationists were thrown to the ground, but immediately resumed a kneeling position and continued praying. Soon as the praying was concluded and the Salvationists rose to their feet, the mob immediately swooped down upon the devoted band, scattering them in wild disorder. Many were struck, kicked and otherwise ill treated. Then a detachment of mounted police charged the crowd, trampling rowdies, male and female alike, under the feet of their horses. Many of the crowd were severely hurt. The Salvationists declare the police, instead of protecting them, deliberately struck them and rode over them. After some little time the Salvationists rallied around their standard, formed regular lines and surrounded by the police marched back to their barracks.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, January 4.—The Post tomorrow will say: The statement published some time ago, to the effect that leading Democrats were desirous to bring the present session to a speedy adjournment, will receive corroboration in an amendment to the rules which will be offered by Representative McCreary of Kentucky. McCreary believes all appropriation bills ought to be reported to the House within the first eighty days of the long and the first forty days of the short session, so they can receive speedy consideration, and thus insure an early adjournment. His amendment is made applicable to all sessions of Congress.

An effort will probably be made during the present session to admit Oklahoma to Statehood.

Fox against the Hale and Norcross Mining Co., et. al. for an accounting of over $2,000,000 was continued by Judge Hubbard today until the 25th inst. on a motion of the new defendants in the case, Hobart and Hayward, who desire an opportunity to cross examine witnesses who have before testified on behalf of plaintiff, and to prepare their defense.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knows what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own brand of Sarsaparilla; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail much good that I would buy myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." Mrs. ELLA A. GORE, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." Mrs. ELLA A. GORE, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

The Silver State says the Postal Service commenced the year in fine style by not leaving a paper from the West at Winnemucca. The fault was not at Reno, Mr. Silver State, as Mr. Nasby on New Year's as well as all other days, sent the mails from his office on time.

POSSIBLE ELECTION RETURNS.

Why Harrison is So Kind to West Virginia.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 31, 1891. ED. NEVADA STATE JOURNAL.—Since the appointment of the Hon. Stephen Elihu to a Cabinet position, the political of the great East are beginning to calculate a possible results for the next Presidential campaign. It is thought by them that West Virginia may become a pivotal State, and that her six electoral votes are worth looking after in the next national contest. They figure several combinations that lead to this conclusion.

A table published some time ago giving "sure Republican States" included Indiana, Massachusetts, Iowa, New Hampshire, New York, Wisconsin and all the new States, but gives West Virginia to the Democrats. It is but fair to remark that this table was made up before the late November elections, and that it claims the full fourteen votes of Michigan. It took up 269 votes for the Republicans to 175 votes for the Democrats, but it will do as well as any other table for a basis to start from. This is the table referred to:

REPUBLICAN.	DEMOCRATIC.
California.....	9
Colorado.....	3
Illinois.....	21
Indiana.....	15
Iowa.....	13
Kansas.....	10
Maine.....	6
Massachusetts.....	15
Michigan.....	14
Minnesota.....	9
Missouri.....	8
Montana.....	3
Nebraska.....	7
Nevada.....	3
New Hampshire.....	4
New Jersey.....	10
New Mexico.....	3
New York.....	36
Ohio.....	23
Oregon.....	4
Pennsylvania.....	23
Rhode Island.....	4
Tennessee.....	12
Vermont.....	4
Virginia.....	12
Washington.....	4
West Virginia.....	6
Wisconsin.....	12
Wyoming.....	3

Total.....269

Now, suppose that the Democrats carry Iowa, with her 13 votes, Massachusetts with 15, Indiana with 12, and 6 votes from Michigan—49 in all—then their total vote would be 224 to 220 for the Republicans. The vote necessary to a choice is 223. Transfer West Virginia to the Republican column and the Democrats lose.

Again, suppose the Republicans lose New York, New Hampshire, the six Michigan votes, and either one of the four new States having three votes each, their claim of 269 would fall to 230. What a fine thing it would be to have the six votes of West Virginia in this emergency.

Still, again, suppose the Republicans lose New York and Iowa, 49 votes, and carry all of Michigan, they would have but 220 in the aggregate. How handy would West Virginia come in here.

Suppose still further that the Republicans, claiming 269 votes, lose New York, 36, Iowa, 13, and only three votes in Michigan, they would then have 217, and need exactly the West Virginia vote to help them out.

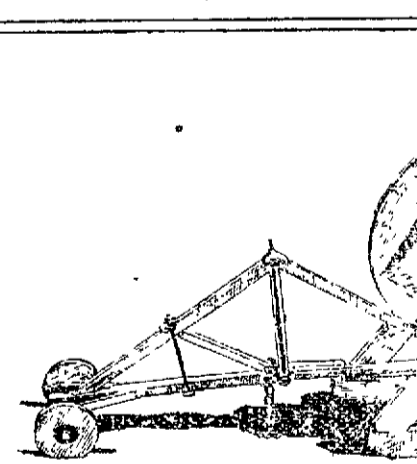

Or should it so happen in the turmoil of Louisiana politics that the Republicans should carry the State, losing New York, Iowa, New Hampshire, and six votes in Michigan, they would have but 218 votes left, in which event half a dozen from West Virginia raising these figures to 224, would be of victorious service. And so on, evidently the Administration thinks West Virginia worth looking for.

Edward Nelson, a young Swede in the employ of E. C. Van Duzer, at his ranch south of town, died yesterday of typhoid pneumonia.

DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Decision in the Case of Hayden vs. Brown.

Judge Cheney yesterday rendered his decision in the case of Thomas E. Hayden vs. Samuel Brown and the Reno Electric Light and Power Company. The case came up for trial in the District Court on the 7th of last October, Judge Hayden being the above named defendants for the abatement of a certain dam which had been built across the river and upon the property of the plaintiff and, also, for $2,000 damages. The facts in the case were that Mr. Brown leased a tract of land on the southeast side of the river to the Electric Light and Power Company. A dam was built upon Brown's side to the middle of the river to raise the water for their ditch. This proving insufficient for the purpose, the dam was continued across the river to the land of Judge Hayden. Subsequently Hayden filed a renunciation of his claim for damages against the Electric Light Company, and thereupon the company declined to answer and suffered default. The jury decided in favor of the defendant, Mr. Brown, who paid $216 accordingly as jury fees. The findings of the jury being inaccurate in several essential particulars, each party moved for a judgment in his favor. Judge Cheney therefore rendered his decision yesterday that all of the dam above and westerly from the "dribbling" is upon the land of the plaintiff and is a nuisance, and that plaintiff is entitled to a judgment against the Electric Light and Power Company for its abatement. The company is given until April 1st to remove the dam, and Brown is given judgment for a return of the $216 costs advanced to pay the jury fee.

Ventilation.

Not the politician's sort, but the fresh air you need. Health and comfort often suffer for this kind of ventilation. Never sleep in a poorly ventilated room. You'll wake up unrefreshed, out of sorts, and bilious. Perhaps you can't improve the ventilation, but you can take Simmons' Liver Regulator for that torpid liver, to keep it active against the ill effects of a close atmosphere which causes that languid feeling.

WORLD

PLEASANT WORK FOR STORMY DAYS.

An Occupation That Furnishes Much Amusement for the Little Ones.

If you wish to provide endless amusement for cross and idle children during the rainy and stormy days of the long winter months, let them make a scrap screen out of colored pictures. Not only will it insure occupation and interest during its construction, but it will be a valuable acquisition for the nursery, affording constant entertainment for lawning intelligence. To make this desirable article, you will first purchase a rather low clotheshorse, and cutting off one panel leave only three to be covered. Then wet some unbleached mus-

After it is quite dry you must "size" it just as the paper hangers prepare a wall before hanging the paper; this is done by making a paste of flour and adding two and one-half ounces of gum arabic which has been dissolved in hot water. Make the paste sufficiently thin to allow of applying it with a brush to the cloth. Paint both sides, allow them to dry, and then give them another coating. Your screen is now ready for the pictures. It is a good plan to keep one side for the black and white prints and the other for colored pictures.

Let the children collect together every scrap of colored pictures they can obtain—nothing comes amiss—old picture-books, bygone Christmas supplements to the pictorial papers—pretty or ugly, they all serve to make an interesting jumble. Keep all your colored prints in one drawer and the black and white ones in another. It may take a month or two to finish the screen, so do not work too fast; keep it for rainy days when there is nothing else to do, and it will prove to be quite a godsend in the way of nursery amusement.

In pasting on the pictures remember that the edges should all overlap, so as to cover the entire panel. Cut them out mingling figures, bits of landscape, flowers, animals, anything and everything all mixed together. If you have large figures it is well to place them on first and then fill in around them. Keep small things, such as Christmas cards, etc., for the borders; cut out all the edges so that the pictures merge together.

It is astonishing how harmonious such a heterogeneous collection may be made, and what good stories the potpourri of pictures may be made to tell. The black and white side of the screen may be treated in the same way, and when all complete varnish both sides and finish the edges with any pretty binding you choose. Red leather looks well and add to the gay effect of the screen. It may be put on with small brass headed nails.

 Children never tire of these screens.
 When baby begins to take notice it is one of the first things he turns to, pointing to this and that familiar object with the greatest pleasure. The little invalid too, finds a languid enjoyment in tracing out familiar objects as he lies in bed.
 Moreover, screens of all kinds are most useful in a nursery in keeping out drafts from open doors, etc.—New York Tribune.

A Darling Deputy Marshal.
 Just now no little attention is being paid Mrs. Fannie Miller, a deputy United States marshal, of Muskogee, La. She was born twenty years ago near St.
 Joseph, Mo., of respectable parents, named Johnson. When four years of age she moved to Sherman, Tex., and

This little woman is nervy and has remarkable powers of endurance. She rides with Deputy B. C. Cantrell, cousin, having accompanied him on many expeditions of danger and fatigue. She and her cousin trailed Fagan and Ed Kinsley, noted cattle thieves, five days in the mountains of the Cherokee Nation. Mrs. Miller was riding along when, to her surprise, she came face to face with Fagan, whom she placed under arrest before he could realize that she was an officer and in earnest. Kinsley's hiding place was soon found, and securing his arrest several shots were exchanged. Mrs. Miller also arrested the other brothers, noted whiskey peddlers.

Mrs. Miller's mother died when she was eight years old, and her father was buried a few years later. She is five feet two inches tall, weighs 135 pounds has very intelligent gray eyes, dark hair, a firm expression, is quick of movement and quiet and unassuming in manner. This remarkable woman seems delighted with her perilous work, and being well educated is anything but bold or brazen. Deputy Controll has been one of the marshal's force for eight years. He says Fannie Miller's services are almost indispensable. —Cor, Chicago Herald.

o'clock on Tuesday a request was sent to the office in Boston by Frank H. Stanyo and William E. Robinson, who were covering the trial, for an extra shorthand reporter. There was not a man to be found at the time, and there was only an hour in which to catch the last train to Boston. Mrs. Harte happened to be in the office at the time, and she volunteered to do the work, however, and when the matter was suggested to her she at once volunteered to do it.

Here she wrote out and

Skunk Skins to the Front.
Skunk skins will be fashionable while seal skins are as hard to get as they are now. Since the British and United States governments put a bar on the seal fisheries, the supply of seal skins has greatly fallen off. Prices have risen and strange to say the demand has increased. The prospects of a hard winter will make furs very desirable, and dealers will have to find a worthy substitute for sealskin. Skunk skins, to be known as Russian sables, will partly fill the bill. Real sables are as hard to get as seal skins, and skunk skins are plentiful. They are well dressed they are as stylish as any furs that can be worn, and they are a great deal cheaper. There are half a dozen big skunk farms in this state alone, and a score or more elsewhere. There will be no stringency in the supply of them, and they will be fashionable. Skunk skins are already being sold in ital of the State. The sheriff is gentleman fifty-nine years of age, and this is what he says: "I have used your August Flower for several years in my family and for my own use, and found it does me more good than any other remedy I have been troubled with what we call Sick Headache. A pain came in the back part of my head first and then soon a general headache until I became sick and vomited. At times, too, I have a fullness after eating, a pressure after eating at the pit of the stomach, and sourness, when food seemed to rise up in my throat and mouth. Whenever I feel this coming on if I take a little August Flower it relieves me, and is the best remedy I have ever taken for it. For this reason I take it and recommend it to others as a great remedy for Dyspepsia, &c."
